

This diagram shows the top view of the PCB assembly. The COM port connector is located on the left side, with a label 'COM' and 'U.V.' below it. There are several circular features, likely mounting holes or vias, distributed across the board. A large rectangular component is visible on the right side.